Together, Once More In "83"

One basketball player can't stand alone on the playing floor and represent his school, because it takes five to make a team. One person in the musical who has all the talent possible could hardly perform alone and make the musical a success. The Spanish Club can't have a successful year with just a sponsor and a president, if they don't have any members then there's no club. The choir could have one person with the most beautiful voice and alone she couldn't represent her school as a choir, for she is alone.

But, here at Arlington we all stand together and make things happen. We pull together so we can have a basketball team of more than five members. Our musical cast pulls together and gets the performance off the ground. The Spanish Club goes on outings together forming a club of many members who are what they do. All of the faculty, administrators, students, janitors, cooks, clubs, athletics and organizations join together as one team and make Arlington successful in the tasks that are performed. That's why at Arlington, Together We Equal One.

one /'w n, w n/adj. being a single unit or thing

These definitions come from Webster's Seventh New Collegiate Dictionary, but the definition is only half of the meaning. When walking through the halls of Arlington High School between classes, you will rarely see anyone walking alone. In the cafetaria, hardly anyone sits at a table alone. People from different ethnic backgrounds come together merely for the purpose of learning, but over the course of time they find that they have formed bonds of friendship that are not easily broken. Whether we be teachers, students, custodians or cafereria workers; together we equal one.

ONE IN . . . STUDENT LIFE

With several different types of student life activities to participate in one is always full of fun. The student life includes the whole student body at times or a particular group assembling to put on a worthwhile activity for everyone.

Summer Time, Having Fun

Winter, spring, summer, fall . . . wait a minute! Back up one and let's talk about summer. Yes, summer is a time when students forget the square root of seventeen or how to spell "pneumonia."

It's a time when teachers don't have to worry about turning grades in on time or having to explain a specific assignment to a student six times before he understands. Summer is a time that both students and teachers can enjoy.

What can students possibly do to occupy themselves for three months? Well, for some there's nothing but continual fun, traveling, and excitement. Others choose summer school, workshops, or just to sit back and relax. Still some seem to prefer making money by holding a job all summer.

Senior, Allen Arnold states, "Summer gives me freedom to do the things I like to do. During the summer I enjoy fishing, traveling, and just spending time with my family.

And what about teachers? Most teachers like to take other jobs during the summer, but some would rather take it easy and rest until fall comes and they have to get back to teaching.

So what's so bad about starting another school year? Just remember that the beginning of another school year means that another summer's just around the corner.

Broadway Hit Guys & Dolls

March 26-27, Arlington proudly displayed it's vastly talented students in the popular Broadway musical Guys and Dolls.

Guys and Dolls, a story about the wild and ramunctous men and women in the past. Miss Sarah Brown (senior, Nancy Perkins), a native missionary who was in charge of a Salvation Army mission near Times Square New York City, which just so happens to be in the neighborhood of Nathan Detroit (senior, William Dennis) a sneaky underhanded gambler who needed $1000.00 to get a place to hold his crap game. He also had been avoiding marriage with Adelaide for fourteen years. Adelaide (sophomore Tina Burke) is a half-witted singer at the Hot Box, who is in love with Nathan Detroit. The main plot revolves around the triangle of Nathen Detroit, Miss Sarah Brown, and Sky Masterson (senior, Don Norman), a gambler who was tricked into a bet with Nathen Detroit and falls in love with Miss Sarah Brown.

The musical was a resounding success with the team work of the technicians and the soft tones of the chorus. With the mellow voices of the chorus as a background "Guys and Dolls" had the sound of a professional Broadway hit. Auditorium Technician Ken Petty, said "Guys and Dolls was the best musical Arlington ever put on and they get better every year." But before anyone heard a single voice the technicians were hard at work preparing the stage and lighting for a truly great musical. It took alot of work to put on such a great play, but according to chorus girl Adrienne Houser "We had alot of fun. It was more like a party than working."

Rounding Up The Knights

Crowded halls, a packed bookstore, new faces, old faces, these are just a few of the factors of coming back to school.

It's a time when you can renew old acquaintances and start new friendships. It's a time to learn and grow in knowledge and skills. It's a hectic time when schedules are being juggled and new classes are assigned.

Back-to-school days bring a period of adjustment to both students and teachers alike. At this time of the year, togetherness is necessary in order to accomplish anything. Working together can make the whole year easier for everyone.

Junior, Tracy Page stated, "Coming back to school isn't so bad. I just get closer to my senior year, and I'm looking forward to that."

Most of all, the first days of school prepare us for the hard work ahead and gives us the strength to face it all.

Sweat . . . Til The Finish

May 24, 1982 was the two twelfth annual running of Arlington's Little 500, an imitation of Indiana University's 500 bicycle race. This year's race was accomplished by the host of usual cuts, scratches, and accidents; including a crash on the opening lap. The 500 race is a total of one hundred laps around the football field, which equals twenty-five miles. Each bicycle team consisted of four members and one queen candidate. The winning teams queen candidate being crowned queen of the Little 500.

The winners of the Little 500 as did winning teams in the past paid for victory in blood and sweat. The winning team was nicknamed "Journey". Journey led the Little 500 race from the 25th lap until the end of the race.

Girls Controlling The Football

High school girls playing football? That may seen strange to some, but Arlington students and teachers look upon this event as a normal activity.

In the 1982 Powderpuff football game held May 3, the senior class girls were victorious with a score of 13-0. Powderpuff is an annual game of flag football played between and junior and senior girls. The senior girls showed talent and experience, having already participated in one Powderpuff game the year before. However, junior team member Linda Jacks stated, "We shouldn't have lost even though they had more experience."

John Wiggins, business teacher, coached the senior team with the help of seniors Duwane Black and Bryan Mobley. Charles Page, assistant football coach, was the junior's team coach along with juniors Charles Eberhardt, Greg Addison, Ernest Evans, and Eric Wiggins.

The junior and senior boys showed their enthusiasm, too, by taking over the roles of cheerleaders. This is an additional activity that has become a tradition at Arlington.

Far Upper Right: The boys show their spirit by subbing as cheerleaders while the girls try their hand at playing ball. # Couples Look For Romance

Mystery and romance filled the air of the 1982 Junior-Senior prom. This was the one night everyone looks forward to during the high school year. This was an evening where everyone was transformed into a prince or a princess. From the first dance to the last smooch the Junior-Senior prom was filled with memories that would warm the hearts of many people for some time to come. The prom an event which is more than just a dance. It is a trip into a fantasy land where your favorite wish can come true. Unfortunately, like all dreams it must come to a end but unlike most dreams this evening will remain in our hearts forever. "The prom was something that I will remember for the rest of my life. Besides the memories I still have pictures and my dress," replied Sharon Burris junior.

82' Seniors Finally Made It

Finally we made it! The class of 1982 have finally realized the reward of four long years of work a diploma. It was a day that they had worked long and hard for. Many sleepless nights and haphazard days were the payment for this honor, which will unlock the future for them and allow them to make their mark on the world. But even with the joy of realizing their final goal there was an overcast feeling of sadness. For the class of 82 would be breaking up and saying good-bye to old friends always hurts. All of that sadness was soon forgotten as each senior was handed his diploma, which will be a new lease on life for them. "I have really enjoyed the four years that I spent at Arlington but I have to admit it feels good to be going to college, said senior Robyn Ballard.

Spirits Soar Toward Victory

Spirits soared along with the fireworks, and the Golden Knights came through with yet another Homecoming victory. Though the weather forecast said "rain" the Knights faced the Washington Continentals as though there wasn't a cloud in the sky.

The activities began with decorated cars, floats, and banners along with the students and teachers of Arlington parading through the schools' surrounding neighborhood.

Halftime began with a performance by the Marching Band, Flag Girls, and Goldenaires. After which the cars and floats were judged and the Science Club won with the slogan, "Washington crossed the Delaware in '76, but they won't cross Arlington in '82!"

Then the announcement of king, queen, prince, and princess was made. The honor of king went to Tony Shipp, and Carmeen Harris was awarded queen. Jerome Brewer and Diane Rushton received the titles of prince and princess. Dazzling fireworks closed out the halftime show, but the biggest factor of Homecoming was the score of 27-14 in favor of the Knights.

Junior Lisa Smith stated, "Our Homecoming is not like anyone else's. I loved it all, especially the fireworks!"

Far Upper Right: A tearful Carmeen Harris had a lot to smile about after being crowned Homecoming queen. Upper Middle: These players learned that teamwork helps as the Knights gained 10 more yards. Upper Left: The Marching Band and Goldenaires began halftime with a glowing performance. Far Lower Right: An Arlington player runs for the goal line during the second quarter of the game. Lower Right: Give me a "K"! # All Work And No Play?

Do you wonder what students do with the time they spend outside of school hours? "I sometimes like to play football on Sundays, but on Fridays and Saturdays I either work or go to my girlfriend's house," stated senior Chris Walden. Many other students had different ideas on ways to spend their extra hours.

Senior Robin Maxey remarked, "I usually go roller skating with my boyfriend." Students seem to find infinite things to do outside of school hours. With the new video games craze like Pac-man, Tron, Centipede, etc. you will often find arcades crowded with students.

Shopping at Washington Square, bowling at Hindel Bowl, church activities and attending sporting events such as football games, basketball games, etc. are just a few of the other activities that students take part in outside of school hours. Others like to use their talents during their freetime. Junior Hugh Triggs explained, "I enjoy making tapes of music and writing songs when I have time to spare."

Other students just like having time out of school just to relax. "I look forward to the weekends because I am out of school and finally get to relax," commented senior Bobby Brock.

CHANGER

It Was "Mame," For Two Shows

Lights! Camera! Action! All of the hard work paid off on premiere night. The musical was held on November 18 and 20. The sounds of singing and the applause of an encore was heard all through the auditorium.

The story dealt with Mame Dennis, played by Crystal Oldham, who was a loving, outgoing, and beautiful widow who takes over the raising of her nephew Patrick, played by Wynne Berry, after the death of his parents. While Mame was raising Patrick she was known for her wild parties and her association with some very well known people of the country. Dwight Babcock, a bank president, played by John Neal, was trying to take Patrick away from Mame because of his inheritance. Mame finally marries Beauregard Burnside, a southern gentleman, played by Dwayne Massey. Later on Beauregard Burnside dies and Mame becomes a widow for the second time. Patrick, now played by Brian Dodson, grew up and went to college, got married, and had a son of his own which Mame planned on raising too! Other characters of the play were Agnes Gooch, Patrick's nanny, played by Deniese Dugger; Vera Charles, a middle aged actress, played by Drienna Houser; Ito, an oriental houseman, played by Vernon Squires; and Lindsy Wooley, a publisher friend of Mames, played by David Reed.

Orchestra member, Allen Ahlbrand added, " I thought the whole presentation including the cast, chorus, dancers, and orchestra went well."

The cast of "Mame" was made up of all grades and they had been rehearsing since the beginning of October.

Adding A New Look

American Field Service (AFS) has placed foreign exchange students at Arlington for twenty years. Yngve Kvistad and Luciene Simoes helped to continue the tradition again this year.

Yngve Kvistad from Norway lives with the family of Mr. Kenneth Lewis, former music teacher at Arlington. Luciene Simoes from Brazil lives with the family of senior, Cathy Kendrick. Both students became honorary members of the Student Council and had their books, lunches, and school activities paid for by AFS.

Both Luciene, 16, and Yngve, 18, have a great interest in music. Yngve plays the tuba for the school bands, and Luciene is involved in Concert Choir and Knightingales.

The schools in their own countries are very different from ours. In Norway, high school is not required, therefore the school populations are much lower. In Brazil, students only attend classes from eight to twelve in the morning, and there are about 50 students in each class where the teachers change rooms and the students stay in the same room.

Public realations coordinator Mrs. Audra Bailey, after having counseled 48 different foreign exchange students, comments, "Yngve and Luciene are two of the best. You couldn't ask for two better kids."

"I think the AFS program has been quite a success at Arlington over the years, and not only can the foreign exchange students learn a lot from our country, but we can learn a lot about theirs, too, just by talking to them," concludes junior Maria Roque.

Indy has been a part of the United States since 1860 and is still playing a challenging role in today's history.

From the Indianapolis 500 Speedway to the sponsoring of the first National Sports Festival, Indianapolis continues to grow and prosper in many areas. With the building of the new Hoosier Dome and already owning the largest Natatoruim in the world, Indy is fast becoming notorious around the United States. Indy is a place with numerous facilities for exhibitions, concerts, and other entertaining programs. Buildings such as the Convention Center and Market Square Arena provide room for such events.

During the festive month of December, downtown Indianapolis is alive with Christmas decorations along with the worlds largest man-made Christmas tree on Monument Circle. The Circle along with the City Market provide various other shopping locations not far away.

"I enjoy living in Indianapolis. I don't think I'd want to live anywhere else but here," admitted sophomore, Shonarie Chambers. Freshmen, Cynthia Brocks has the same opinion. She emphasizes, "Indianapolis is a great city! There's more to it than just the 500."

Faculty Takes Seniors Again

After being defeated last year for the first time in twenty years, the faculty once again proved that they were the dominant force in the Senior/Faculty basketball game. The faculty defeated the seniors with a score of 57-46. The faculty led the entire game, and the closest the seniors could come was within one point in the third quarter. Bruce Glover, senior, stated, "At the beginning of the third quarter we thought we were going to pull together, but evidently we didn't because we got licked." The teachers played a tough 2-3 zone that was very hard to burst, while the seniors played a man to man defensive strategy. Kevin Bass was the leading scorer for the seniors and Mr. Page and Mr. Glenn were the high point men for the teachers. Playing hard throughout the game the seniors hit a cold spell and shot twenty percent from the field and remained that way until the final second ticked off the clock. But, the highlight of the game was when senior, Paul Johnson, hit a half court shot at the buzzer for the teachers. It was a very exciting game but the faculty were the shining stars in the end.

The Goldenaires performed during halftime with Goldenaire Director, Mrs. Christina Allen. "It was a good experience, it gets you use to the basketball crowd and to being close to the crowds," remarked Goldenaire, Rebecca Maynard.

Preparing For Life

With the economy the way it is today it is hard to get a job. What is even harder is after getting the job, being able to maintain it while attending high school.

Many Arlington students have to face the problem of working and going to school. Sometimes the results are falling grades or poor attendance. "Many times it is difficult to work and go to school, especially if it means I have to lose sleep," commented Delisea Threat.

There are also numerous advantages to having a job during the high school years. Job experience is very important for obtaining a job later in life. In order to prepare yourself for the years after graduation, you have to discipline yourself to handle the many responsibilities that both school and work bring. Junior Jerome Puryear explained, "It is kind of difficult to get your homework finished after school if you have a job you've got to be on time for." Even though holding a job and attending school at the same time is a difficult task, many students manage it very well.

TOGETHER

ONE IN . . . ACADEMICS

With fourteen different academic areas, it is possible for a student of Arlington to learn how to fulfill his goals and to find the limits of his knowledge in order to better himself. The teachers constantly strive to aid students by giving them individual assistant when needed and encouragement when a student feels he has failed. The staff at Arlington is ever-ready to meet the needs of the students. Each academic area is designed to fit the needs of every student and each teacher is qualified to instruct in his area. Here, at Arlington we want each student to always obtain new knowledge that will help him in the realization of the lifetime ambitions.

Up To Your Ears In . . .

Confusing verb tenses, strange translations, disturbing history, and complicated reading can all make you feel up to your ears in English, Special Education, Foreign Language, Social Studies, and Business.

At Arlington English is more than just spelling and grammar. It's drama, speech, literature, Etymology, journalism and more. Required all four years, English gives students a better view of language.

There are other languages spoken at Arlington, too! French, German, Spanish, Latin, and even some other foreign languages spoken by the ESL students present here in our school. Although a Foreign Language is not required to graduate, most students spend at least one year in a Foreign Language class. Junior Michael Hines stated, "I've been in Spanish classes since 5th grade, and I plan to continue because I enjoy it."

Special Education classes help students to excel at their own level and pace. The program includes almost every kind of major course taken in the high school and helps students improve their knowledge and skills.

Social Studies deals with the past, present, and future. From U.S. History to World Geography and from Government and Economics to Psychology, the Social Studies department covers a wide range of learning possibilities.

At some time or another we've probably all experienced being up to our ears in one of these special areas.

Right. All involved in my studies . . . Freshman Sharon Truitt works diligently in her Special Education English class. The Special Education department gives special attention to those who seem to have trouble with class work.

Left. What a breeze . . . Senior Christine Kennedy smiles at her progress as she types away on an adding machine during her Accounting III class.

Below. The final moment . . . Mr. Dwyer helps some members of the Federalist party count the final votes for the Mock Election.

Above. Practice makes perfect . . . Juniors Kevin Adams and Hugh Triggs join together to prepare and read a report for their English V class.

Up And About In . . .

One, two, three, four, two, two, three, four, . . . Attention, right and left face are the sounds that make you feel Up And About In Gym and ROTC. Gym requires a lot of running around, exercises, participation in games, and is set up to help students reach their full potential in activities. It will help them to create a sound mind and body. Freshmen Alvin Copass comments, "I enjoy PE class because it's like having a break in the day to run around and let it out."

As the rest of the school studies, the ROTC department is trying its best to help students become tomorrow's leaders. ROTC students dress in military uniforms every Thursday, they learn rifle shooting, physical training, first aid, map reading, and most important of all learn to take commands and do drills. All of this training will prepare them for life in the military. Sophomore Kim Morgan states, "Being in ROTC is fun if you enjoy drilling, wearing uniforms, and passing the "White Glove" test (inspection) once a week."

Right. Serious business . . . This ROTC inspection may not be the real thing but it's close enough for these students.

Left. If mom could see me now . . . While playing a game of basketball during gym class a few boys try to show off their talents and do some tricks for the class.

Below. Yes maam . . . The ROTC class holds an inspection every Thursday and freshman James Drew looks a little nervous and scared while being inspected by junior Brenda Smith.

Above. Hot and sweaty . . . Participating in a friendly game of basketball and learning the rules of the sport seems to be what this freshmen boy's gym class enjoys doing.

Left. Will it go in . . . Every one has their eyes on the ball as they wonder, will it go in? Freshmen girl's gym classes like the boys enjoy a friendly game of basketball.

Up And Drawing In . . .

Art and Industrial Arts, creative curricular, where the students learn to operate everything from pencils to welding torches. Art students sketch in ink and make lithograph lines. They compose oil paintings and take pictures. They study angle and distance, and examine film negatives. They develop and display. Self-expression is a key-word in Art classes.

Like their very close relative, Industrial Arts also offer a wide variety of classes. Future architects may find their start there. Future mechanics of different kinds will find those classes helpful. Future diamond brokers and jewelers also have an opportunity to choose a class for their profession. And for the vocational carpenter, it's still possible to take plain "shops", where one can nail and glue shelves as much as one would like.

Both Art and Industrial Art classes contain a certain group of students. Kids who know how to express ideas through their creative hands. "One doesn't have to be blessed with talent to join the Art departments. Art is a class in which I can express my true feelings on paper," stated Evelyn Jones, sophomore.

It's a flower . . . Junior, Kelly Capps works on an ink pen drawing. She prints an array of flowers, in Craft Design 1.

Below. My future house . . . Randy Darling tries his hand at designing a blue print of a house in which he would like to live, in Archeticual Drawing class.

Right. Steady hands . . . Airbrush painting can be very difficult as an art student demonstrates here.

Up With Figures In . . .

Learning computer programming, formulating experiments, and studying music notes can make you feel Up With Figures in math, science, and music. Each of these can assure you a future in the growing world of technology. Computers will soon be the way of tomorrow and here at Arlington a Computer Processing course can be taken. Math takes plenty of deep thought and tough figuring. "But it will help you to succeed and Computer Processing is a very good class to take if you're really into math. It's interesting, fun, and you learn a lot," states senior Tim Smith.

Science can be interesting too. Just think disecting frogs, pigs, and even cats would be part of your every day routine. Or if that's a little out of your league try your luck at formulas and measuring in classes such as Chemistry, Physics, or Earth Science.

Keeping the beat and moving their feet applies to many students as they keep up with figures in music. Music is a part of every teenagers life but for those who are interested in music for a career the Music program gives the chance to make something of ones voice. Arlington has had a history of having a fine Music department. Sophomore Casey Chestoskey comments "I think everyone enjoys some type of music and I think it's great we have it."

Right. Forming a hypothesis . . . Junior Michelle Price explores the world of the unknown while performing an experiement in her science class.

Left. So many figures . . . Despite all of the formulas and theorems, Algebra can be enriching as Math Department Head Donald Clodfelter tries to point out to sophomore Dion Worley

Below. All together now . . . Donald Robb conducts the Concert Choir, attempting to reach perfection for their performances.

Above. Sufficient Data . . . Jerolyn Douglass, junior, discovers that computing is hard work but the field is wide open if she choses it for a career.

Left. The world of science . . . Science Department Head Robert McClary, better known to some of his students as "Doctor Bob", is always ready to help with questions.

ACADEMICS

Up Planning The Future In . . .

Preparing simplified gourmet meals, sewing plain skirts or complicated blazers, creating complex blueprints for printing projects, and building useful tools and equipment can all make you feel like you are up and planning the future in many fields.

Home Economics includes foods, clothing, family health, family living, child development, housing, home management, and needle art. The advantages of these courses are almost limitless. With the experience of these classes it's possible to be more than successful in family life after high school graduation, whether you choose to be married and have a family life, or if you choose to live on your own.

"It gives you a feeling of accomplishment to be able to make your own clothes and have someone compliment you on your appearance," stated junior Tracey Page.

Industrial arts include construction industry, metal working, graphic arts drafting, power mechanics, vocational electronics, and introduction to industry. Allen Arnold, senior, stated, "Working with hot metals gives you experience to get a job later in life."

Right. I hate wrinkles . . . Junior Regina Grubbs tries diligently to remove wrinkles from a pattern she has designed and made herself in clothing.

Below. It's easier than it looks . . . Printing is a popular class in the Industrial Arts department and sophomore Ricky Bogguess shows just how simple it can be.

Above. Learning machinery . . . Senior Chrita Snead enjoys working with machines and with a little help she has learned how to operate a printing machine.

ONE IN . . . PEOPLE

With approximately 1900 students enrolled at Arlington and approximately 1900 different personalities it seems likely that problems would arise quite often. However there are fewer disturbances than would be expected in a typical high school. Why? Perhaps it's because the teaching staff is made-up of dedicated professionals, and because the students have a sense of pride and patriotism about their school. Here at Arlington these things and others combine to make a productive learning center.

Left. Working 9 to 5 . . . Senior Sharon Bey doesn't just work at a desk in school, after school she also has an office job working downtown at Blue Cross and Blue Shields.

Overlaid. Knight hysteria . . . The spectators looks on as the Arlington Golden Knights move the ball down-field for a touchdown at the Homecoming game.

ONE IN . . . SPORTS

With twelve different sports in all including both boy's and girl's teams and varsity, reserve and freshmen teams there is an opportunity for any student that wishes to participate in a sport to take a chance. All sports aren't the same, in some you are trying to obtain individual apprasial for working alone. If the seasons interfere with your body temperature that's no excuse when it comes to sports. They begin in the last week's of summer and continue throughout the school year. Here, at Arlington we try to meet the needs and wants of the individuals by offering as many sports as possible.

Curtis Burns. manager, and Coach William Bennett.

Tracksters Take Off Slow

At the sound of the gun, the runners begin to use the skills that they developed during many hours of rigoruous training. The cramps and pains become unimportant as they strive to be the first to breast the tape.

The 1982 boy's track team competed in nine track meets, winning two and losing seven. "Because the team was mostly juniors, the coaching staff feels that the team has gained insight and will return in '83 to have a very good season." Of the nine matches ran, the team lost to Manual, Washington, Warren Central, Lawrence Central, Cathedral, Carmel, Howe and Scecina. The team defeated Crispus Attucks 83-27, and Marshall 64-57. Arlington also came in 4th in an Invitational at Southport High School and 8th in an Invitational at Arsenal Technical High School.

The leading scorer for the team was junior Roland Hamilton with 95 points. Second and third in scoring were juniors Anthony Harding and Greg Addison, with 49 points and 47 points respectively. "I think the team will be very strong during the next season, the team was made up of mostly juniors and we grew up a lot," stated junior Greg Addison.

Above right. Pressing for the mark ... Senior Odell Ranson appears to be choosing his landing spot as he attempts to achieve first place in the longjump.

Right. The longest yard ... Junior Carlton Stewart shows a great degree of determination as he sees the finish line coming into view.

Flash Back '82

"I saw we had the lead so all I did was take the baton and looked at the finish line," proclaimed Stephanie Balls.

Middle left. Well, all the time isn't spent running . . . Senior, Vickie Harrell takes a little time out between races to rub some analgesic medicine on her legs to prevent cramps.

Upper left. Watch out here it comes . . . Senior Valda Freeman warms up during a Marshall meet where she gives that discus a free ride in the wind.

Girls Stride For The Best

The 1982 Girls track team had a very improving season. The girls had an even number of wins and loses and competed hard to achieve their goals. The girls had a number of strong returning runners such as Tonya Lathem, Angela Murray, Debbie Randolph and Kelli Tolliver.

The girls ran against strong competition but didn't have the strength to pull it out. The team lost strong runners such as Gerry Anderson, Angie Fox and Tonya Jewell due to graduation. Returning lettermen Kelli Tolliver stated, "The team was all right, all of those that competed where good runners, and shall be better the coming year. "The girls feel they will have a successful season with new runners.

Par One, For Knights

What do terms like the birdie, par and bogey mean to you? To Arlington's Golf Team they meant lots of concentration, practice and a steady hand.

Although last year's team only consisted of three players, they really put out a lot of effort practicing once a week since school started. "All of last year's players will be returning." "I was very disappointed because we started out with three," stated Mr. Manka when asked his opinion about the season. "Hopefully we'll have more players next Spring." The team competed against mostly city and county schools with their record being 7-12 at the end of the season.

Upper right. Hmmm . . . An experienced golfer, like junior, Steve Strunk, always uses careful concentration when preparing for an ace.

Lower right. Swoosh . . . Junior, David Roe smiles as he shows confidence for taking a lead in the match with this swing.

"I was concentrating on nothing but hitting that ball," stated Betina Malless.

New Starters Are Successful

There was yet another sport added last year to Arlingtons many team. Anna Wessel, the girls Physical Education teacher, with the help of Arlington's most athletic girls and a little effort and work created Arlington's first softball team.

Miss Wessel commented, "We did pretty well for our first year, although we lost some very valuable players who were seniors."

Since this was their first year playing, the girls on the team lacked experience but slowly built up as the teams year went on. "We have a good group of girls," stated Miss Wessel, but they are still learning." It is hard starting a new team when all the other schools have had teams for years.

Second baseman, Rita Mack added, "I'm glad I got to play on Arlington's first year team. It also taught me a sense of responsibility." The girls will be back next year to go out fighting and showing their pride for the Knights.

Upper right. Walking on air . . . Celeste Southern slows down to stroll after an effortless homer.

Lower right. Excuse me . . . Senior, Dawn Moss comes in safely at home after a close play when the pitcher threw a wild pitch.

"All I could think about was getting to first base as fast as I could, to try and score a point for my team," stated junior, Charles Eberhardt.

Did you see that one ... Junior, Eric Wiggins puts his might behind the pitch to strike out an Attucks player in the first inning.

A Tough Season At Bat

The 1981-82 Varsity Baseball Team did not have a winning record, but the season was not a total lost, "At times we really played well but the scores didn't indicate it," said Dennis Christie, sophomore. The Knights finished the season with 4 wins in 16 contests, but posted a big win against the Scecina Crusaders 7-0, who were city runner-ups and had defeated the Knights previously 10-0 in the City Tourney.

The Knights had trouble putting together good defensive and offensive games. "Some games we played well defensively but just couldn't score enough runs to win," stated sophomore, third baseman Damond Woodfork.

The Reserve Team finished a learning season by winning 3 games under new coach Bob Inman. "We will be a lot better come next baseball season because we got a lot of experience this year," revealed freshman, Willie Copas.

"I felt that I worked hard to learn how to volley and it really paid off," stated Robyn Jackson.

Playing Hard On The Court

The 1982 Girl's Tennis Team finished a much improved season with a very strong winning and impressive record. The girls had a very strong influence in captain Carmencita Hughes and Nancy Perkins and now will have to rebuild due to the loses of both players for the second year in a row Carmencita Hughes was voted Most Valuable Player of the team, and defeated several top seeded players in the city, with defeats over Howe and Cathedral High School's top seeded players.

Along with Carmencita and Nancy, second year players Susan and Sheryl Rockett played hard and strong and were coming along just fine. Coach John King stated, "The girls did well and improved, they worked hard in practice and were dependable. The team is very strong and will produce more wins in future seasons. I am looking forward to seeing alot of new volunteers who know how to play tennis." Next year there will be many returning players such as Robyn Jackson, Jill Yates, Susan and Sheryl Rockett, Lillie Watson, and Djameela Siddegg.

Flash Back '82

"The season wasn't a total loss we improved over the course of the season and the team will be much better next year," commented Michael Hines.

Right Totally awesome . . . Kevin Nimor displays strong form as he powers his forehand deep into the forecourt.

Boys Tennis Improving

The Boy's Tennis Team completed a disappointing season this year, however much individual improvement was made over the time span. The season started out with some impressive victories, but soon sank into numerous losses. The season did have its bright spots. The varsity first year players showed improvement as well as some veterans. Number one singles player, Michael Hines commented, "Some of our first year players such as Jeff Mitz didn't have experience in playing high school tennis, but as the season went on Jeff and the other first year players really got their act together!" "The team in general is pretty well experienced but with the lessons we learned from this past season we'll be able to improve our record next year," stated Kevin Minor.

Lower right. Reaching for his powerful forehand ... Marvin Wade makes an impressive comeback with a vicious forehand smash.

"I was trying to do my job by bumping the ball to the front row," explains Karen Seawood.

Lortha Miller, Gaynell Nowland. Row 3: Paul Woods, Anita Kennedy, Angela Douglas, Darleene Douglas, Kim Powell, and Coach Mr. Steven Glenn.

Good Season For Volleyer's

"I think we had a very good season," stated Coach Anna Wessel. The Girls Volleyball Team ended the season with a 7-7 record. "I think the season could have been better if we would have played together as a team," commented Lovie Hood.

The girls practiced everyday and were ready for most of their opponents. Scecinia beat the girls in the city tournament but the girls took their revenge in regular season games. Kelli Toliver was the most valuable player of the team this year. She and two other girls are graduating this year. I think we had a fine season, but we lost to Warren Central in the Sectionals," stated Jannetta Timberlake.

Below. Team work . . . Angie Murray awaits a set up from Kelli Toliver in a game against Luthern High School.

"I tried my hardest to imach the man," replied Tony Shipp.

Gridders Achieve Winning Season

The 1982 Varsity Football Team compiled a record of 6-4, the best in ten years at Arlington. The banner season began for the Knights in an August win over rival Broad Ripple 12-6 at Arlington.

The Knights then defeated a tough John Marshall team by a narrow margin of 7-6 giving the Knights a 2-0 record. The gridders then hit a tailspin by losing 16-0 to the Irish of Cathedral. The Howe Hornets were next on the schedule and they handed the Knights their second loss in four games with a 7-24 score. The win-hungry Knights then faced the Chatard Trojans and were defeated 8-25.

The gridiron Knights then found themselves staring at a 2-3 record after five games and it was time to regroup. Regroup they did, by winning four straight contests including a win over the highly ranked Roncalli 6-0 and Washington 27-14. "The homecoming game against Washington and the upset win over Roncalli will remain in my mind forever," stated senior, Greg Addison. "Our season overall was a total success with a couple of set backs," stated senior Charles Eberhardt. The Knights were a senior oriented team but have a lot of young talent to build with next year. "I hope this winning season will help younger players to strive for success next year," said senior Ernest Evans.

Far middle lower right. Ready to go ... Senior co-captain Wayne Johnson spends a brief moment on the bench because of an ankle injury, but is ready to see more action against Roncalli. Lower right. Getting loose ... Senior runningback Lamont Glover gets loose one last time in this, his final game as a Knight against Roncalli.

"All I could think about was to run and score," replied Robert Owens.

Above. On the run . . . Maraleius Birdsong runs threw a series of tacklers for yardage.

Gridders Of '83 Have Improved

This year's 1982 Reserve Football Team had an improved season. The Knights improved their season record to 4-4 to stay even at 500. Coach Charles Page commented, "With a little more work we could have had a better season. At the end of the season the kids realized they could have been a better team."

"The team had strong and dedicated players that worked hard all season. Everyone's talking about how the team effort came from the coaches. When you have coach like ours it doesn't matter what kind of team you've got," stated Clyde Posley. The team had alot of key personnel that produced and improved over the season and made great contributions in play, but the strengths and weaknesses really showed how good the team was. Coach Page stated, "Our strength was our offense and defense which kept us in every game. Our only weakness was that the kids didn't realize how much work it takes to be a winner."

The 1982 Freshmen Football team had a disappointing season, although during the season the team did improve. Coach Steve Douglass said, "They showed improvement throughout the season especially the defensive and offensive line. The team compiled a record of 2-8 for the season, defeating a very good Brebeuf team. The Knights didn't realize the lack of depth they had but practiced very hard. We had strength in our defense. Our weaknesses were that we lacked depth and we didn't have enough backs. We had only one good running back and one good quarterback throughout the season. We just made mental mistakes. But nevertheless, the team felt they had a good season." Douglass continued, "I felt the record didn't show how they played. We really should've had a better record but a lot of mistakes really hurt us."

Touchdown bound ... Freshman Robert Owens is off and running with his teammates into the endzone.

Upper left. Ready set ... The Reserve Football team gets set to score aganist their opponents, the Roncalli Rebels.

Lower middle. Movin' on ... Junior Maraleius Birdsong uses quickness and speed to score against opposition.

"Swimming is a difficult sport to excell in. It takes a great deal of discipline, determination and heart to become competitive," stated junior Kevin Adams.

Swimmers Suffer From Inexperience

The 1982-83 Swim Team started with hopes of a winning season, but due to a lack of experienced members and practice time the season turned out to be somewhat of a disappointment. "This was a year of learning to be a competitive swimmer for the first year swimmers," stated Max Spiegle. Only three of this years swimmers have had any competitive swimming experience which leaves Arlington with a major handicap against most schools as they face swimmers with up to seven years of competitive swimming. Michael Wisdom and Michael Sam have really helped with our new people and have lead the team this year," commented Swimming Coach Mr. William Bennett.

Upper right. Breaststroke . . . Scott Berling shows picture perfect form as he pulls away from the competition with Center Grove.

Cheer'ers Add Spirit

The highly spirited cheerleaders added two new squads to their organization. The two new squads were the Basemen and the Junior Reserve Cheerleaders. The Basemen were added for support in the cheers. These guys do everything from making letter designs with their bodies to giving strength and support to the girls. The Junior Reserve Cheerleaders were added to cheer at the Girl's Basketball games, with the idea that the girl's teams needed the same support as the boy's teams. The Reserve Cheerleaders went to summer camp this year. They received a superior, an excellent and an outstanding rating. The Varsity Cheerleaders, to raise money, sold M & M's, jewelry and calendars to the student body. "I like being a cheerleader because I help promote the school and give backing to the teams," stated Senior Daune Foster.

Knights End With 16-8 Season

The 1983 Varsity Basketball season was a season of highs and lows. The highest point of the Knights season was being 8-0, and ranked 5th in the state by AP and UPI polls. The lowest point was losing to Tech in the Semi-finals of the Hinkle Sectional. Between these two high and low points there were a lot of little ups and downs. The biggest blow to the Knights season was the loss of senior guard Curtis Shelby to a intestinal virus. Curtis was out after eight games with the Knights, due to this virus. Curtis's loss came at a pivotal time in the season for the Knights. They were headed into the tough Indianapolis City Tournament with only a nine man roster. Those nine young men pulled together and gave it all they had before they ran out of gas just three points shy of a City Championship. "I really thought that we were over the hump after the City Tournament", commented Head Coach Ed Ward. But the Knights were over the hump only to slide down. After the City Tournament the Knights lost games to Blackford, Chatard, Cathedral and Washington. The Knights tried desperately to prepare for the rough Hinkle Sectional. The Knights reached the semi-finals by beating Lawrence Central, but the Knights ran into a hot shooting Tech ballclub, which put the Knights out of the running for a coveted State Championship. A lot of people would say this season was a disappointment for the Knights. They were in three tourneys only to finish runner-up in two of them. They were talent rich only to be plagued by sickness and injury. But in the end junior Perry Smith said, "There were some disappointments, but they don't last long. The thing that will stay with me is that I learned everything you achieve you must work for, and what you achieve is based on how hard you work. Talent is great but there is no substitute for work."

Reserves Earn City Title

This years Reserve Basketball Team had a outstanding season. The Knights are the 1982-83 City Champions. All during the season the team spoke of this achievement and proved it to the city. Greg Williams stated, "I felt it was just a matter of time, we knew we were the best in city and other teams knew it. We put all the right ingredients together and it worked, but it was really a tribute to Coach Page." The team had a strong starting lineup and a very good bench, but the key to most of the success was defense. Coach Charles Page stated, "A main factor in any game is defense. It has to be there every night if you're going to win games, that's why we work on defense 45 minutes a day and they kept improving."

The Knights showed their potential all season and went through most of the season undefeated.

A Bad Season For New Frosh

The 1983 Freshmen Basketball Team had a 3-11 overall season which was the first losing season under Coach David Karto; but there were bright spots. "I think we got better as a team, but our record just didn't reflect it," said freshman guard Andre Moss.

The Knights dropped six games by six points or less and were in a lot of games until the final seconds.

The Knights, a good defensive team, (the Knights gave up fifty points or more only five times), started their season with a loss to the Lawrence Central Bears but bounced back to outscore the Northwest Pioneers. The young Knights then hit a slump where they just didn't win the close ones.

During the stretch, the Knights lost four of six games by a total of 13 points. The losses were to Howe, Chartard, Tech, Broad Ripple, Manual, and Marshall.

The Knights then outscored the Tigers of Attucks by 20 points. "The Attucks game was a total team effort," commented Moss.

Arlington then geared up for the tough city tourney by beating Washington 38-37. Arlington headed into the city tourney with a chance to avenge a one point loss to the Ritter Raiders earlier in the season. They came up short with a 44-40 loss to the Raiders in the first round of the city tourney.

Girls Having A Rebuilding Season

This years 1982-83 Girls Varsity Basketball Team had a fairly good season. Coach Anna Wessel stated on the teams progress, "The team played well together and held up to their potential, I am sure they could have won more games but it was a good season." Leadership was a major role in the teams success and Angie Murray and Chrita Snead provided this throughout the season. Coach Wessel stated, "Chrita and Angie really held the team together. They were a good twosome that really worked well together. They were also our team captains." This years season was more of a rebuilding season. Kim Powell stated, "I felt we could have done better but strong opponents made it a hard season. We had a lot of players that were inexperienced at the varsity level but next season we should be a lot better if everyone works hard on defense." The team was pretty tough in most of season play especially during Christmas. Jean Franklin stated, "I thought we did well during Christmas and at the end of the season." This year, due to graduation the team will be losing a lot of key players. Coach Wessel stated, "I hope to see a lot of tall girls come out that have the skill but most important it will be a rebuilding season and we will be successful."

Experience Gained From Tough Losses

When asked the best part of the 1982-83 Reserve Girl's Basketball season, sophomore manager Casandra Burns replied, "Our best game was against Broad Ripple. The game was tied and Tracy Boyd scored on a lay-up with one second left on the clock." The girls finished with a disappointing 6-7 season record, but gained tremendous experience as three of their losses were in overtimes.

The girls trained during the season executing lay-ups and shooting drills as well as running to condition their bodies. When asked why she went out for the Girl's Reserve Basketball team junior Tracy Hayes remarks, "I went out for the team because it's one of my favorite sports and I enjoy playing it." When asked who lead his team this year Coach Steven Glenn replied, "Dawn Barnett lead us defensively averaging three steals a game and Anita Kennedy was our team captain averaging seven rebounds per game. "Our major weakness was our general lack of experience, but we overcame that as the season went on," stated Coach Glenn.

Good Year For Young Team

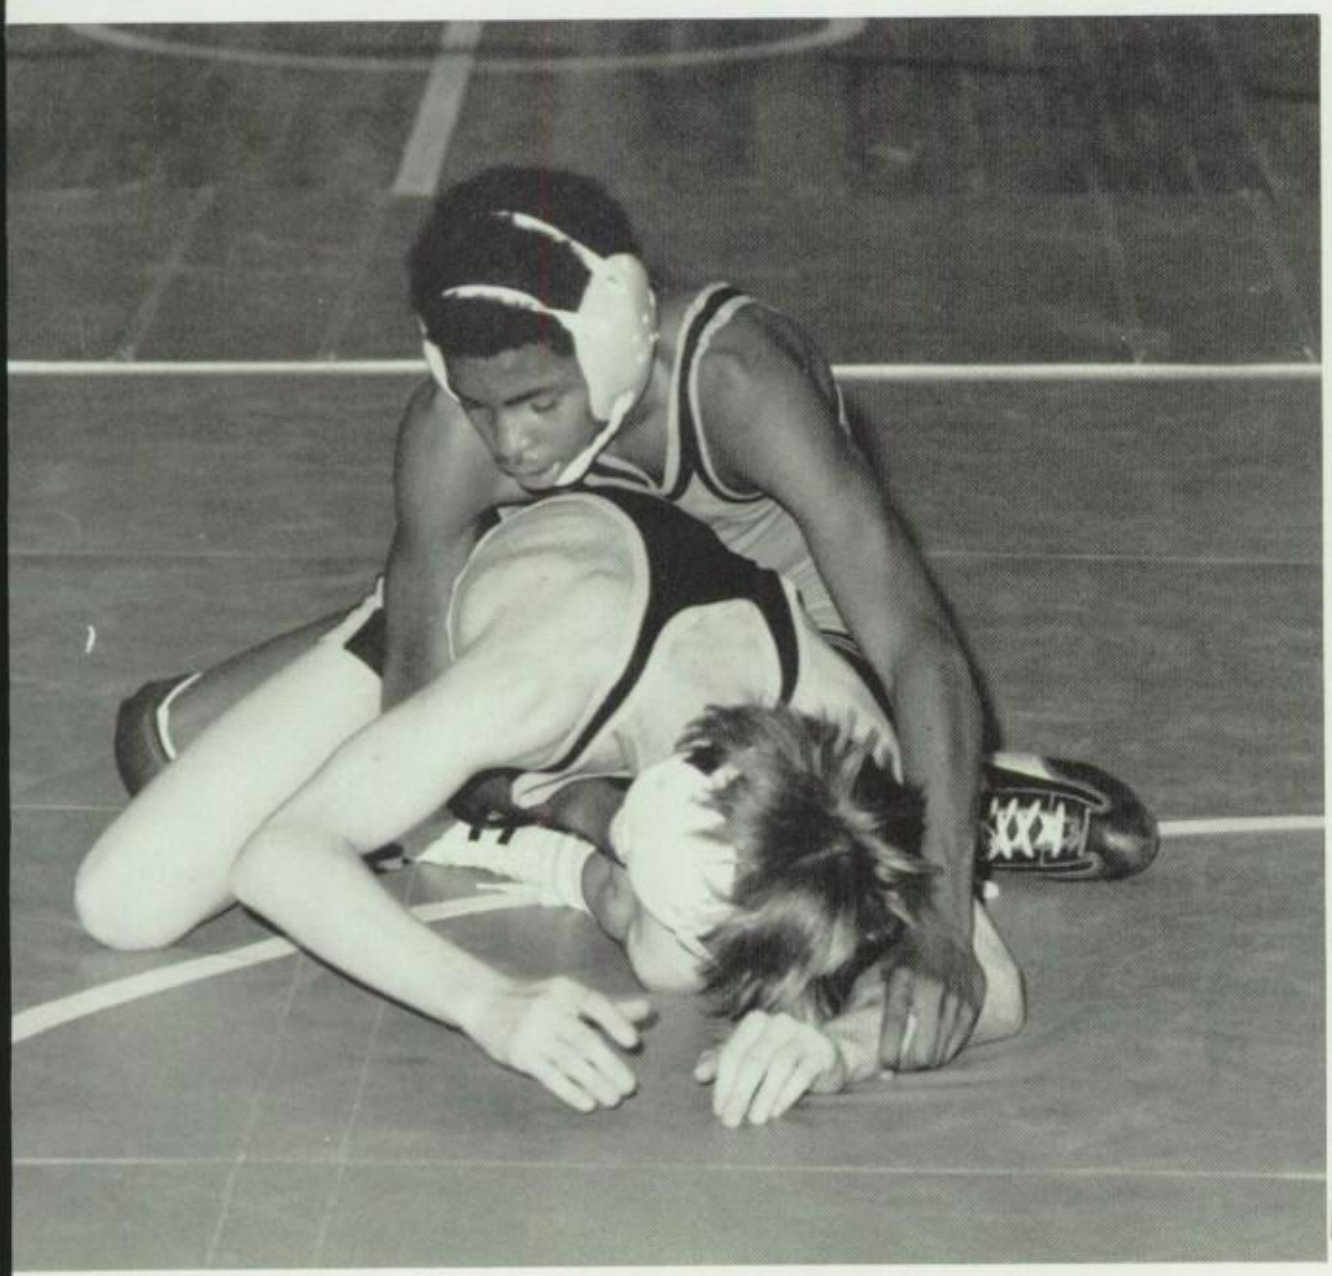
"As young as we are it was a good year for the team," stated wrestling coach Ed Dwyer in reference to the record of the 1982-83 Wrestling Team.

Coach Dwyer remarked, "We were competitive most of the time, and we are fortunate to have ten of this years thirteen starters returning next season. The record this year was four wins and seven losses, and two ties. According to Coach Dwyer the two most outstanding members of the team were sophomore Jimmy Lee with 21 wins, 7 losses, and 1 tie; and senior Wayne Johnson with 22 wins, 9 losses, and 1 tie. In the sectionals, senior Wayne Johnson and sophomore William Downing placed first in their weight class while Jimmy Lee received a second. Wayne Johnson finished third in the Regionals. Overall the team accomplished third place in sectional matches.

Wrestling is not just statistics. The following paragraphs, written by junior Dennis Christie, give insight into the thoughts of a wrestler; before, during, and after competition.



"Mr. Dwyer and Mr. Slabaugh are common names among the wrestling Knights of Arlington. They are the coaches and at times were the most hated people in the wrestling room. When the time came to bring the mats from the wrestling room to the center of the gym, there wasn't a sign of hate but a look of thanks. Each wrestler now appreciated the long, hard practices that kept them in top physical condition.

Many athletes go a step beyond the call of duty; wrestlers go two steps. There is no sport that better prepares the mind and body for real life. As Coach Dwyer has often stated to his wrestlers, "You will be a better man after you leave the wrestling room than you were when you entered'."

"It has really been an exciting challenge to wrestle on a high school team this year," commented freshman Jim Miller.

Knights Stay Respectable

Coached by Mike Slabaugh, the Arlington Reserve Wrestling team compiled a very respectable 6-4 record, despite at times being out-numbered by wrestlers from other schools.

With the leadership of juniors Damon Woodford and Irish Gilbert, the Knights remained respectable on the mat. The Reserve Team also consists of Tom Mumaw, Dean Holler, Clarence Owens, Jim Miller, Jeff Barker, Rich Lay and Reggie Zimmerman. Coach Slabaugh also emphasizes that, "A lot of the reserve wrestlers could and should do well at the varsity level next year." Damon Woodfork, junior, added, "There really wasn't a Freshmen Team, but luckily, the freshmen were always there to help us out when they were needed."

Left. Under Control . . . Damon Woodfork has complete control over his opponent as he goes for a win.

Left. Luck of the Irish . . . There is no luck here as Irish Gilbert has total dominance over his opponent during the Broad Ripple meet.

"I'm proud to be a Mat Maid and support the Wrestling program," stated senior Andrea Laisure.

Squads Help Boost Spirit

Keeping score and cheering on the team at all the wrestling meets are the ever trustworthy Arlington Matmaids.Some may feel the job of being a Matmaid is all glamourous, however this is not always the case. In addition to adding spirit and enjoyment to the meets, the dedicated Matmaids must clean and arrange the mats. The Matmaids have tried something new this year. Instead of the usual all female group, they have added a male participant. "It really started out as a joke, but I really began to enjoy being part of the squad," stated junior, Mike Riddle. Sharon Burris added, "I enjoy being a Matmaid because I like the sport of wrestling." It is easy to see the wrestling team would be lost without them!

Arlington's Pep Club is responsible for a very new and popular invention this year — it's the new fan bus. With the development of the fan bus, many students are able to attend the away games when they otherwise could not. The Pep Club attended all the basketball games to lend support to the team. "I think the club is pertinent to the school and the teams," exclaimed Mrs. Dorian Pinner, Pep Club sponsor. The Pep Club planned a camping trip to Brown County at the end of this year.

Time Spent Running Long

On your mark, get set, go! Once the runner hears the shot from the starters gun, he's off and running and he will keep running as long as his legs will hold out.

But, one has to be physically fit to endure the strain that the Cross Country Team has to go through. This means one has to practice everyday, morning and evening, exercising and constantly conditioning.

That's exactly what this team does for a whole season and more. Coached by Mr. William Bennett, the team really racked up some miles in competition. Some members really improved over the season, with a few ending up in top competition. Senior Patrick Conover, who placed 8th in the Sectional competition held at Brookside Park and 14th in the Regionals held at Southeastway Park commented, "I was really getting tired out there and I couldn't wait to cross that finish line."

"For me the competition was a real challenge," commented junior, Kevin Adams. "I felt, although we didn't win much, most of us were running to improve and show that Arlington has school spirit," stated senior Donald Gilbert. "We did improve over the season," stated Coach Bennett, "but not as much as we needed to although the team did ranks ninth in over-all competition."

The People Behind The Scenes

What makes a worker want to work, over time? Most of the time it is the pay. But in a coach's situation pay doesn't enter into it. According to several prominent coaches at Arlington, it is the closeness to the players and the association with the sport they coach that makes them want to work overtime as a coach. Overtime in a coach's situation goes a lot farther than one would expect. They are teachers and educators from 8:15 until 2:10. At 2:10 they become coaches, instructors, and friends to a lot of athletes. Coaching is a full-time responsibility. Most of the coaches not only coach one sport but sometimes two and three sports, or they prepare for their sport year round. An example of this is Head Football Coach Jim Craver. He runs a weight training program all year long for the football prospects. Assistant Football Coach Ed Dwyer is also Head Wrestling Coach. Coach William Bennett is a Track Coach along with being Swim Team Coach and Cross Country Coach. Tennis Coach Jack King coaches both Girls and Boys Tennis. Girls' Reserve Basketball Coach Steven Glenn also coaches Reserve Girls' Volleyball. Reserve Basketball Coach Chuck Page also coaches Reserve Football. Girls' Varsity Basketball Coach Anna Wessel also coaches the Volleyball and Softball teams.

ONE IN . . . CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

There are 47 different clubs and organizations meeting both before and after school. They are all open to students who wish to join. The clubs and organizations are winners with the Arlington students for practically everyone in the student body belongs to one club or another. There are clubs for people who love crowds and also for those who like to be around a smaller number of people.

Color Guards demonstrate love for their school and country by marching with the colors of black and gold; and red, white and blue.

The School's Four Leaders

There are four groups at Arlington whose main responsibility lies in guiding the student body in making this a better school. The Senior Class Officers and the Junior Class Officers hold a very important job in the school. They are in charge of organizing their classes and sponsoring events to show class spirit. The goal of the Human Relations Committee is to help the school and student body better their relations with others. And the Student Council is responsible for sponsoring many important events, including helping to raise school spirit. Yngve Kvistad, Foreign Exchange student commented, "I feel these types of groups are the backbone of the school."

Languages From Different Countries

Whether it's the French Club, German Club, Latin Club or the Spanish Club, they meet weekly after school. "Exploring the French 'Cuisine' is one way of exploring the people and finding out about their customs," stated French Club member Tony Sandlin. But the clubs don't consist of only gourments, of course. These students also visited museums to experience the more ancient culture too. During Spring Break, the French Club went to Montrel, Canada and the Spanish Club leaves for Mexico on June 16. The "Wanderlust" of the "Deutschers wasn't big, but they also left Indianapolis for a while to explore German life in Chicago.

Music Is The Key To Harmony

Every year Arlington is graced with great young men and women who share their talents with the entire school. Such people are the members of Knightengales, Knightsingers, Concert Choir and Jazz Band. These extraordinary groups enhance the school in many different performances throughout the year. All participants must tryout before Mr. Donald Robb, Choir Director. From there they must enroll in a one period class. However, the work does not stop there. Countless hours are spent rehearsing after school. The finest high school choirs are forever bringing pride to Arlington!

Creative Writers Who Reach Students

At Arlington there are many students that have special talents in the English department. The Lancer and the Accolade staffs have many aspiring young journalists who make it their responsibility to produce publications for the student body. Senior publications staff member, Ramona Arthur said, "It was a lot of hard work but I enjoyed helping produce the yearbook and newspaper." The Quill and Scroll, an honor society for high school journalists, met in the publications room and kept up to date on current events as well as planning journalistic type activities.

Helping the English teachers with many difficult and time consuming tasks were the English Assistants. They did everything from running errands to typing, filing and grading papers.

World Of Music Perfect Melody

The Arlingtones are students that have originated from previous performing choirs. They are selected by a try-out basis. They sang this year in programs at school and away. They were also involved in many contests.

The String Ensemble consists of students wanting to play to gain expertise in the music field. All of the string students were in various competitions throughout the year.

A-Orchestra is the highest orchestra to which a student may obtain membership. They are in many performances throughout the year. "It is like having the Symphony Orchestra right at your backdoor," stated Michael Shelton.

Marching In Excellence

The Pep Band performs at all the basketball games. They are the boosters when they play their music that encourages the team and also the crowd to get that spirit up where it belongs.

Since 1976, Arlington has not had the Golden Cavilier group perform. This year that was all changed. The group was brought back by Drum Major Robyn Jackson. They performed at football games and also at parades.

The Marching Band plays at all the home football games and competes in several city and county contests.

Expertise In Their Arts

The Thespians, Knightwriters and the Home Economics Club all strive for expertise in their individual groups. They all enter contests and create in ways that suit their individual needs. The Thespians are an organized group that meet weekly to discuss the traits and the art of writing. Knightwriters enter contests regularly which allows students the chance to write and also make a little money on the side. "Every year we at least have one winner and I encourage those who like to write to join Knightwriters," commented Mr. James Johnson. The Home Economics Club was started up again this year by Mrs. Penn. They were involved in both cooking and sewing contests. They will also be involved in the 4-H contests held during the State Fair.

Busily acting out the many parts they so often play on the stage, the Thespians always found ways to entertain the students. They were an active part of the musical, and several plays as well as always learning more about their talent and ability from their sponsor Mrs. Daveda Wyatt.

The Helpers On And Off The Scene

Audio technicians, media assistants and nurse assistants play a large part in making things run smoothly at Arlington. The audio technician takes charge of duties in the auditorium. The media assistant keeps the books in the library in order, and can help you find a book that you need in a hurry. The nurse assistant also plays a vital role in the school's nurse's office. They register students in the clinic, and they also do clerical and housekeeping chores. "I like working in the clinic," stated Lillian Lane, a junior nurse assistant.

For Some, Competition Is Good

The Riffle Team is composed of guys who are skilled at range firing. They are active in various competitions. Most Riffle Team students sharpen their skills as they attend an annual camp at Camp Atterbury.

This years Drill Team competed in several competitions and received some good scoring. They competed in a meet at Tech and received third place and also received fifth place in the Veteran's Day Parade.

The Goldenaires are a dance corp. They perform at all home football and basketball games. They have started entertaining at a few away games as well as entering many Icoal and state contests. "I enjoyed being a Goldenaire and I will go on to ISU and try my skills out their to see how much I really learned," replied Goldenaire Chris Kennedy.

The Workers And Achievers

The OEA, DECA and ICT are all clubs which help you find a job. These clubs are good for on the job experience and will benefit students later on in life. These clubs are also classes where students take an elective course and can obtain three credits for on the job training and one for taking the class. "I enjoy being in DECA because it gives me a chance to gain experience for when I go out to find a permanent job," said Carmen Harris.

The Lettermans Club is a club which was designed to recognize the outstanding athletics. In Lettermen's Club athletics obtain letters, pins, sweater and jackets.

Mind, Body And Soul

Mind, body and soul is what it's all about in Push Excell, Science Club and Political Club. These are all informative clubs that teach as well as offer experiences that are a part of everyday living. Push Excell was involved in a worthy project this year when they sponsored a dance, collected can goods and gave the proceeds to families in need during the Christmas holidays. They were also involved in a tutoring program. The Science Club explored how small trinkets really work. They also used their talents to feed the supporters at the basketball games by working the concessions. Those who were interested in knowing more about how our government works ventured into the Political Club. They learned about our government processes as well as how to vote.

The Clubs Of Knowledge

A very important part of high school is to enjoy yourself as well as to get a good education. Arlington has many clubs and organizations which provide much fun and entertainment. However, there are certain clubs which require a bit more. Such clubs are Quiz Team, National Honor Society and Chess Team. The Quiz Team consists of many bright students who work diligently to represent the school in very tough competition. They appear on Channel 13's Brain Game competing against various other schools. The National Honor Society gives students who have over-excerted themselves academically a chance to share time together. And last, but not least, there is the Chess Team, consisting of students who enjoy taking on a very special type of strategy. They compete throughout the city against other high schools and meet to practice with their sponsor Mr. John LaPress.

The Alley Go'ers

Arlington's Bowling Club consists of 80 people. They bowl in the afternoon at Hindel Bowling Alley on Tuesday. There are 20 teams made up of four people on each team. Each team is required to have at least one female. Junior Jeff Dunn stated, "I've enjoyed the season very much because we've been in first place and I enjoy the competition." The Bowling Club has a banquet at the end of the year where awards are given out for various things.

The Bowling Team not only competes with their team members but they compete on Fridays against many other city high schools.

One In . . . Advertising

The ad section of the Accolade is one source of the yearbooks finance. The advertisements in this section makes up Arlington's personal directory of businesses and supporters. The advertisers, sponsors, and patrons make this book possible for you the student body. We want to extend thanks to the following people and businesses who have given the Accolade their support. A special thanks is also given to all the people who support the Accolade by purchasing a yearbook.

Distributive Education

A Co-Operative Study And On The Job Training Program For In School Youth

Distributive Education is a combined study and on the job training program designed to improve the efficiency of persons engaged in distributive occupations, such as salespeople, buyers, managers, and sales supporting personnel in retail, wholesale, and service businesses. Its distinguishing characteristic is the mutually planned working arrangement between the school and the employer. The students receive classroom instructions directly related to their work in the co-operating business organization. The students receive on the job training from their employer. The student works a minimum of fifteen hours per week (at least 50 percent during school hours) for which he receives pay and credit towards graduation.

I'LL NEVER, NEVER LOVE AGAIN

Let the tears fill my eyes,
Tear the stars from the skies,
I'll never, never love again.

I found out just in time,
That your love was never mine.
I'll never, never love again.

I offered all my heart and soul to you.
It's not your fault that I was such a fool.

Go along to him now.
I'll forget you somehow,
And I will never love again,
I'll never, never love again.

Let my tears fill the sea,
My poor heart sets you free.
How could I ever love again?
I'll never, never love again.

*Words and music by W.L. Parker

MAGIC SUMMER

Seems always there was no one,
I was sad blue inside,
Until you happened to me,
Then I became alive.

Because of you I live now,
I'm all aglow inside.
Forever I'll remember
Our magic summertime.

I have a love who loves me
For now and evermore.
I'm glad you happened to me
And opened up love's door.

LOVE MEMORIES

As the time ticks tirelessly on,
I watch the time,
And I remember,
Superb moments, unforgetable moments,
Incomparable moments of Supreme contentment.

And as the time ticks tirelessly on,
I search my heart
And it remembers
Moments of tenderness, moments of tears,
Moments of truth and transcendence,
Traumatic moments, thrilling moments,
Uncountable memorably moving moments.

I remember moments of tranquility,
Moments of turmoil and tension,
Moments of titanic emotion,
Memorable moments of togetherness.

As the coiled clock spring unwinds
And the time ticks tirelessly on,
I marvel at the wonder of you;
The touch, taste and smell of you,
The sound, the look, the feel of you.
The power of your magnitude
Has eternally carved these memories
On my soul.

Unlike the tireless
Meaningless ticking of time,
My heart ticks on and on
With fervor, feelings and
Memories of you.
They shall remain forever
and forever,
And the eternity after that.

*R.J. Edgewater

STRESS

My life is just a messy mess.
How long can I go on?
Yes I'm a victim of deep stress,
Seems everything goes wrong.

I've got to find some new techniques,
And try to learn to cope,
Then try to be a better me
And cure my stress with hope.

TRIO TRYST

Would you call me hypocrite,
Would you call me mean?
I'm in love with Betty Jo
And also Betty Jean.

It does make me miserable for
I just can't decide,
Which Betty I should marry and
Keep and love for life.

Both of them are heavenly and
Set my heart ablaze.
Both of them are in my dreams and
Keep me in a daze.

Betty Jo and Betty Jean are Always on my mind,
Lovelier, prettier, sweeter girls you
Will find hard to find.

Betty Jo and Betty Jean just
What am I to do,
Complications thicken because
You both love me too.

Just a minute, hold your hat and
Don't think me insane,
I can solve this trio tryst and Marry Betty Jane.

*To the Bettys in my life.

LADY LENA

The loveliest creature ever born,
Is beauteous, lustrous, Lena Horne.
You haven't lived until you've seen
The Ledgendary Lady Lena.

She is as cool as fresh green mint,
I'm sure she must be heaven sent.
She dances, sings and acts with style,
Brings you to tears or makes you smile.

A sculptured face of honey-beige,
Movements like calm or stormy waves,
Her dazzling smile, seductive eyes,
Breathe out more warmth than bright sun skies.

She sings the songs of love and life,
She sings of pain and bitter strife,
Of happier times and sweeter days,
She sings life's story phrase by phrase.

Though stormy weather came her way,
She tried, survived till rainbow days,
The loveliest creature every born,
Perennial beauty, Lena Horne.

* A tribute to Lady Lena Horne

WHAT IS FREEDOM?

What is freedom ... Do you know
Does it make you feel a glow?
What is freedom ... Are you sure?
Without it ... Could man endure?

What is freedom ... Tell me, do
And how much does it mean to you?
Should your freedom be denied ...
For them would you fight or die?

Freedom's not a simple thing
Like a simple song you sing.
Freedom's not just being free
But having rights ... Democracy.

So say by day and year by year
Praise your freedoms loud and clear
Think how it would really be Without rights ... not being free

What is freedom ... Once again?
How much does it mean to man?
'Tis your responsibility
To value freedom ... To stay free

Freedom's precious as can be for
Mankind and humanity
Now and then just think about it
And how life could be without it.

*Louise Terry Batties
*Gloria Morton Finney

A smiling Wendell Parker devotingly clutches his personally autographed album of and from Lena Horne.

HALF OCCUPIED

A lonely room,
Cold sad sheets,
One untouched pillow,
A foam soft posturepedic,
Half warm, half occupied.

Restless arms reach out,
Remembering you.
Fingers feel for you,
Finding only emptiness.

Tears burst loose.
Torment tears through out
One body.
One heart, one love,
One lonely room,
Half occupied.

Walls that cannot speak,
Remember.
A guardian ceiling
Symphathizes.
Reality is the empty space.

*Chris Guillermo

JOHN AND JANE

Jane and John,
John and Jane,
Met one Spring
In splashing rain.

Two souls sharing
One umbrella,
Lovely lass,
Handsome fella.

John and Jane
Met by chance,
Then began
A new romance.

Time passed by,
Love remained,
Two . . . now one.
John and Jane

WHERE ARE YOU NOW?

I sit at home,
I sit alone.
Where are you now?
My tears won't dry
Since our goodbye.
Where are you now?

Now I am blue
Since our adieu.
Where are you now?
In reverie
Its you I see.
Where have you gone?

A summer breeze,
The whispering trees,
A sky of heavenly blue,
A heart that sings
Of sunny springs,
These things remind me
of you.

I need you here
Beside me dear.
Where are you now?
I sit and yearn
For your return
To me somehow.

I miss you so,
More than you know
More than my heart
will allow.
For if you knew
How I love you
You'd be here now.

I AM SOMEBODY

I am somebody,
You're somebody too.
I believe in me,
You believe in you.

You must not give up
In your self-esteem
Believe in yourself
And make real your dreams.

I am somebody,
You're somebody too.
Strength, faith and courage
Must be part of you.

When bad times hound you
And make you drepressed,
Hold your head high
And strike for success.

*Ms. Pat Browne

K

K is for KENNEDY,
Robert and John,
And KING, Martin Luther,
America's sons.

K is for KNOWLEDGE
And KNOWING as well,
And Azalee KINCAIDE
A teacher who's swell.

K is for KINDRED
As we all should be,
And KEEPING the faith
In humanity.

K is for KINDNESS,
A marvelous trait.
For an alphabet letter,
K is just great.

THE KING IS DEAD LONG LIVE THE KING

The King is dead,
They've killed the King.
Lift every voice
And proudly sing.

Sing praises to
His strife and deeds,
And keep him in
Our memories.

For God and man
King served his life,
An fought to stab
Of hatreds knife.

He made the world
A better place.
His struggle we Cannot erase.

He fought the fight
For dignity,
And human rights
For you . . . for me.

So dry your tears
And smile with pride,
Because his love
And deeds survive.

* In memory of Martin Luther King. Jr.

Anticipation

At 8:00 A.M.
It all began:
A day that dragged
Its feet till night.

At 10:15
Room 116,
We were to meet,
Share sheer delight.

I tried to much
A tasteless lunch.
My anxious thoughts
Began to float.

At 10:15,
Room 116,
Instead of you,
There was a note.

*Ruby Al

KEEP AMERICA BEAUTIFUL

Keep America beautiful,
The site . . . Arlington High.
Keep America beautiful,
With pride we'll beautify.

The toil, the work that we will share,
In school and neighborhood,
We do because we really care,
And too, because we should.

With individuals and teams,
With students and staff,
Unsightly sights we'll clear
for hours,
And make them look first class.

We'll clean up, fix up, plant
things too,
Plant new flowers, shrubs, and trees,
And when our task is done you'll see,
A lovely sight indeed.

Americans we're proud to be,
Right here at Arlington.
We'll fight litter and blight
we see,
Until the battle's won.

America the beautiful,
Land of the proud and free,
We'll strive to keep you beautiful,
With love and dignity.

DEATH OF A SENATOR

Robert Francis
In Saint Patrick's
In Manhattan,
Now the land is
Sans a senator.

Seas of faces, souls and sad eyes
In deep tribute
At Saint Patrick's
For the senator.

Hearts of black and
Brown and white men
Beat and cry and pray
Together for the Man who lies in state.

Red and white and Blue a flag drapes
O'er the casket,
Deep mahogany.
In Saint Patrick's.

Now the flag drapes
O'er the casket
For a man who Lived and loved, fought
And died for it.

Robert Francis
In Saint Patrick's,
And the land is
Sans a senator.

* Robert Francis Kennedy

LOOK INTO MY EYES

Look into my eyes,
Tell me that you care,
Look into my eyes,
Love is in the air.

Look into my eyes,
Tell me what you see,
Hold me in your arms,
You were meant for me.

Darling when you're near me
My heart sings a song.
When we kiss it's magic,
I have loved you all along.

Look into my eyes,
When you're close to me.
Deep within my eyes,
You'll find ecstacy.

Look into my eyes,
Tell me that you care.
I'm in paradise
Darling when you're near.

* Joan

Survivors . . . Mr. Parker and his classic Mustang are survivors of 15 years and nearly 200,000 miles together.

SUMMER'S COMING

Summer's coming, boy oh boy,
It's the time we all enjoy.
Some will go to summer school,
Some will take a trip or two.
Some swim daily to keep cool,
Or find some fun sport to do.
Summer: baseball, soccer days,
And there's tennis to be played.
Summer's coming very soon,
Warming suns and steamy moons.
Hurry summer, I can't wait,
You're the season that is great.
Summer's coming, boy oh boy,
It's the season to enjoy.

HUMAN RELATIONS

When there are people situations,
You do need good Human Relations.
Be positive and inovate
To properly communicate.

It's great to really get along,
It makes life like a happy song,
To learn and practice right . . . not wrong,
Human relations must be strong,

To be the best you really need,
Positive personalities.
Communicating is a must,
As well as honesty and trust.

When there are people situations,
There must be good Human Relations.

*Terry Ogle

THE COLLECTOR

Ten years of favorite Christmas cards
A thousand bills and paid receipts,
Old magazines I should discard,
And unread books I should not keep.

Old photographs all faded brown,
And boxes filled with who knows what,
Rusty wire hangers lying around,
Among dusty debris and such.

Forgotten shoes, unmended socks,
Out of style suits and ugly ties,
Untaken pills and broken clocks,
Love letters filled with lovers' lies.

If I should die before I wake,
These things a junkman would not take

*Mabel Hicks and Bessie C.

ABOVE THE SURFACE

Above the surface . . . in the air,
In skies of grays and blended blues,
White clouds are drifting unperturbed,
And Earths sad troubles escape you.

Above the surface in the sky,
It makes a mortal wonder why,
The surface world can't also be,
Content, peaceful and trouble free.

To live aloft is but a dream,
Up with the sun, clouids, stars and wind,
At peace and free . . . free for a while,
When we descend, it all must end.

*Aloft with Joan Senecal

KIMBERLY BEETHOVEN

Each day I think about you,
You are a part of me.
There is no love without you,
Our love . . . destined to be.

Our love is ever endless
Like flowing rivers flow,
Like blinking starlight nightimes,
And flickering firefly glow.

I am in love as I can be,
She makes my life complete.
Yes I'm in love with Kimberly,
She fills my hearts love beat.

Her deep, yet mystic spakling eyes
Sometimes hypnotize me.
Her sensous lips that kissmatize,
Lips that don't deny me.

Soothing, smooth love verbal sounds,
Her voice speaks magically,
Blends of chocolate, beige and brown
Describe my Kimberly.

In my deepest memories,
Awake or in my dreams,
Kim is my love symphony,
Enchantingly serene.

*K.R./Beethoven

MOBILITY

Joggers jog and Walkers walk
And cyclists peddle by.

Runners run and
Drivers drive
And pilots skate the sky.

Horse riders ride
And chutist jump.
Then float with much delight.

Sailors sail and Swimmers swim
As divers dive their dives.

Land, sea or air,
They'll all get out there
In time as time goes by.

* Grace Butcher

THE PROM

The music plays,
The dancers away,
It is the Senior prom.

And through the night
Couples ignite,
Enchantment lingers on.

Pale pastel gowns,
King and queen crowns,
An evening of delight.

Soft music plays
As dancers gaze
Into each others eyes.

Warm candles glow
And magic flows
Until the last dance ends.

Then two by two
They bid adieu
To memories and friends.

Now in this empty silent room
The music plays no more,
Reminding me of my own prom
So many years before.

This time I am a chaperon,
But I remember still,
The haunting beauty of my prom,
I guess I always will.

I WAITED FOR YOU

I waited for you
All my life,
And finally you came.
You were everything I'd Hoped and dreamed for,
You and you alone, no other.

We laughed and loved.
We loved and laughed,
Exploring, sharing,
Merging everything.
You and I,
The loving we.

Life and love meant
Something to me,
After decades of illusions,
After years of disappointments,
Years of unrequited dreams.
Alone at last, at last alone
With you.
The time had come to
Love and live.
The time had come to
Live and love.
The waiting thus was over.

*Harriett T.

ROSIE LYMAN

Rosie Lyman died last night,
And I cried and cried last night.
She was six and so am I,
Now she rests in satin white.

Just can't get it in my head,
What is die and what is dead,
And why Rosie's hand is cold,
My first love was my friend Rose.

Rosie Lyman died last night,
And I wondered why last night.
Mama can't seem to tell me,
Why my Rosie sleeps and sleeps.

Some say she's an angel now,
Yet I wonder if somehow,
She could wake and speak to me,
Help me solve deaths mystery.

Rosie Lyman died last night,
And I tried and tried last night,
Seeking ways when I am seven,
To meet Rosie up in heaven.

* A true experience at age 6.

Charming Mattie Ferguson Ballow and Mr. Parker recall their teen-age years prom date. They chaperoned an Arlington High School prom.

WINTER WONDERS

Cold dry winds,
Naked trees shiver,
Dull skies, gray skies,
Snow clouds hovering,
Snowmen stand in frozen
silence.

Melodic songs of birds
have ceased,
Brown grass, brown flowers.
Oppossum, woodchuck
hibernating.

Zero weather,
Shivering people slice
through chilled winds.
Children sliding, sledding downhill.

Moving waters stilled
by ice crusts,
Skaters venturing their surface,
Fish swim deep in frigid waters,
Under ice crusts.

Crisp white frost paints
glazed glass windows.
Warm fires burn in aged red brick.
Dark skies swallow
smoke from chimneys.
Frozen snowmen stand in silence

*Tonya and Tommie

DEATH OF A CANDLE

A candle burns its wax and
wick
Until it disappears.
Its grace and glow burn till it's gone
I've often wondered where?

A candle burns its wax and
wick,
so slow, serene . . . so sure,
I used to think it was a trick,
Burning until no more.

A candle burns its wax and
wick
With stature, pride and flair,
Its flame of light . . . its waxen
height
Bewitches all who stare.

A candle's life is short and bright
As off and on it goes.
Its purpose is to share its light
Until its final glow.

A candle is a silent friend,
Our memories it shares.
It casts its light into our lives,
Our loves, laughs, tears . . .
and prayers.

A candle burns its wax and
wick,
Its tallow tapered thin.
And as its flame consumes its
height,
The candle's life descends.

A candle's light is like a life,
The burning flame . . . its heart,
And when the final flicker ends
Its spirit too departs.

★ Aunt Margaret and Helen

MAMA

Mama's sick,
Been ill for years.
The pain she suffers
Brings me tears

And yet she smiles
as if she's well,
Her eyes conceal
Pains life has dealt.

She can no longer
Move around or
Set the table,
Say the sound of,
"Dinners ready."

While growing up,
Each bedtime night,
Mom read or told
Tales of delight

And stories of
Her youthful days,
About our roots,
Truths that amazed.

Mama dear,
It's still so clear,
Your love and comfort
Through my years.

You're now a grandma mama
And great grandmother too.
With pain and pride you do survive
And I thank God for you.

I love you my dear mama,
In you joy still abounds,
With ageless, breathless
beauty,
You are my queen uncrowned.

★ To my wonderful mom

Co-worker Mrs. Chris Allen converses with Mr. Parker concerning some of his poetic efforts.

The Publications Task Force . . .

Sharon Burris Editor-in-chief of the 1983 Accolade revealed, "I really am thankful that I was appointed the Editor of the Accolade because I have really benefitted from it. I will never forget this program. Any student who is planning to become a future journalist will find that this is a good place to start. The year started off well and ended with some occasional problems but none to large to be worked out. Lastly, I would like to thank Mrs. Werbil for encouraging me in the past four years and backing me in all my endeavors."

Rosemary White, Editor-in-Chief of the 1982-83 Lancer confided, "My work on the publications staff during my four years at Arlington really made high school special. My positions have led me to know the school and the people better and has helped me to develop my journalistic abilities even further. I will always cherish the memories I have had with the staff members."

"Overall the year was a success. For the most part the staff worked well together. Whenever the yearbook hit hard times Sharon was a pillar of strength and pulled us through," commented Michael Riddle Assistant Accolade Editor.

Mike Baker Assistant Editor in Charge of Sports for the Lancer remarked, "This year was really an interesting year, my compadres were a fun bunch of people."

"This year has been the best! I appreciate the change I had to be a part of producing such wonderful memories for the student body at A.H.S. Next year I will be even better," acknowledged Angela Baker Student Life Editor for the Accolade and News Feature Editor of the Lancer.

Brenda Smith Academics Editor commented, "This year did not meet what I had hoped."

"It was a tough job," stated Laurie Herald Co-Sports Editor for the Accolade.

"Working with the Clubs Section, I gained the knowledge to make my own styles to follow. It has been a real good year," stated Tamara James Clubs & Organizations Editor of the Accolade.

"I really enjoyed this year and it has been a year I will never forget. I have gained a great deal of knowledge which will benefit me in the long run," remarked Eric Wiggins Accolade Co-Sports Editor and Lancer Assistant Sports Editor.

"The time I have put into this book has been a lot of fun. The experience I gained will help me in the future. I will deeply miss this program and the people involved," stated Kelli Swem Photography Editor of both the Accolade and Lancer.

"Since this is my first year on staff, I can't really compare this year with other years, but I think that the staff as a whole did a pretty good job," replied Kelly Ketchka Index Editor of the Accolade.

John Neal Business Editor for both the Accolade and Lancer said, "This year was filled with great new experiences. It was a lot of hard work and also a lot of fun. I will miss the program next year."

Thanks To Those Who Helped Us Equal One.

Dick Mauer★ Our Jostens yearbook representative who gave us many great design ideas and also came in handy when we needed help on other things.

Lee Wendt★ For taking super pictures even on the spur of the moment.

ROOT Photographers★ For taking pictures of our student body and school functions whenever we needed.

Rosemary White Lancer Editor★ Who helped us out when we were short on hands.

Betty Burris★ For taking time off from work to take pictures to be developed when we were on deadline and waiting after school until the wee hours.

Karen Allegree★ For coming in on her own time, going around town to get ads, and for coming in and helping out when we were on deadline.

Lisa Ford and Kim Reese★ For all their help in typing and editing.

Max Kidwell★ For printing up index cards which made the index easier and faster to complete.

Helen Kendall and other attendence staff workers★ For their unending cooperation.

Wendell Parker★ For taking out advertising and also going out of his way to get ads from people whom he knows.

Betty Ferguson★ For lending a hand when we were in desperate need of students names.

Mary Hults★ Our school secretary who checked names of teachers and room numbers when we had no schedule.

John Morris★ For unlocking the door when we had to get in and letting us use his typewriters when all of ours were in use.

Ed Dwyer★ Who took things to the post office when we were in a bind for time and had to continue work.

Nancy Larkin and Lee Phelps★ For their aid in financial matters.

Jennifer Werbil★ Our yearbook advisor. Sorry for all the breakdowns we may have caused but you can be proud we made the last deadline.

Students, faculty and staff★ For buying a book, ad or giving their support to "Together We Equal One" and the nineteen eighty three Accolade.

Together We Equaled One

We were number one . . . The Reserve Basketball Team made headlines when they defeated last year's city champs the Catherdral Irish. The Reserve Team had the backing of the student body and helped to make this a great year!

Working together day by day
Through seasons one by one,
Our creed you see is unity
And peace for everyone.

Yes, each of us at Arlington
Does strive to do their best,
Working together and as one
Puts us above the rest.

We've faults it's true, but they are few,
Our goals and aims are high.
Together we do equal one
Progressing on with pride.

Arlington High . . . a wonderous place
Of warmth and dignity,
So hand in hand we'll win the race
Of growth and unity.

Working together day by day
Our blend of human race
Keeps moving upward all the time,
Until we win first place.

So do your best and I will too,
Our beauty will unfold,
Together we will equal one
For our dear old black and gold.
